How We Support Our Patients

1. Mental Health Assessments

Mental Health assessments are evaluations used to understand and individualize emotional, psychological, and behavioral functioning. This typically involves interview questionnaires and observation to identify symptoms and possible mental health conditions.

These assessments help guide accurate diagnoses and inform personalized treatment plans.

2. Children's Therapy

Children's therapy is a specialized form of counseling design to help children express their feelings, process experiences and develop healthy coping skills. It often uses age appropriate techniques such as play, therapy, art or story telling to engage children in a comfortable and supportive environment.

This therapy addresses emotional behavioral or developmental challenges to promote overall well-being and growth.

3. Individual Psychotherapy

Individual psychotherapy is a private, one-to-one process where a therapist helps a client understand their thoughts, emotions, and behaviors.

Through guided sessions, clients develop healthier coping skills, promote healing, and improve overall well-being.

4. Medication Management

A clinical service that involves prescribing and monitoring psychiatric medications to ensure they are safe, effective, and suited to each client's needs, with adjustments made as needed.

5. Psychiatric Evaluation

A detailed assessment by a mental health professional to understand symptoms, history, and mental health status, leading to an accurate diagnosis and treatment plan.

6. Family Counseling

Therapy that helps families improve communication, resolve conflicts, and build healthier relationships by working together in guided sessions.

7. Parent Counseling

Support for parents focused on effective parenting strategies, communication, and managing children's emotional or behavioral challenges.

8. Couples Counseling

Therapy for partners to improve communication, address conflicts, and strengthen emotional connection and trust.

9. Group Therapy

Therapy conducted in a group setting where individuals with similar concerns share experiences, gain support, and develop coping skills under professional guidance.
